

Da Vinci had a daughter that married an author named Machiavelli. Da Vinci didn't pay the dowry because he didn't like this stock op man who called himself "The Prince". Da Vinci was a towns person and Machiavelli was a Nobleman. They daughter and Machiavelli moved city-states. They moved from Milan to Florence. Machiavelli was still angry with Da Vinci so he contacted his friend of the Sforza family. The Sforza family was well known for its wealth that was mysteriously made by black market trade and crime. The Sforza family member, Capri, hired mercenaries to go assassinate Leonardo. The mercenary was of peasant birth and he was known for his offensive secular ways. The assassination of Leonardo da Vinci will always be remembered as a tragedy of the Renaissance. Today, the mystery of why people celebrated the gruesome murder by the silver unicorn horn of Venice, is still unsolved. His brains still are puzzled of why that urban society would turn their heads from a man strong from the high up tower of Sweet tasks. The golden ichor of Da Vinci ran down the sweet streets, could he really be a mythical God? We shall never know.

John Calvin was a man who created a theocracy in Geneva. Ulrich Zwingli was friends with John, and John helped him be a leader in the Swiss reformation. Together they created the doctrine of justification with King Henry the 8th and bloody Mary to promote Christian unity, but King Henry and bloody Mary broke from John and Ulrich to pursue Anti-Semitism. Predestination led Henry and Mary to create the Council and Trent. Anabaptists led by the knight Ignatius of Loyala saw there errors in there thinking and decided to massacre them all.

The End

Once upon time Charles V declared the Edict of Worms which prohibited anything to do with Lutherism or Martin Luther who was a Christian Humanist, a movement that started in Bohemia that happened about 100 years before and was continued by Desiderius Erasmus who wrote the The Praise of the Folly, and Luther also nailed his 95 Thesis which included his disgust of the Reverend and the Popes and the Indulgences that bought Salvation which he wrote while at the University of Wittenberg but all was resolved at the peace of Augsburg.

Once upon a time in Flanders, Raphael, Michelangelo, and Donatello were painting frescos when Chaucer ran in ^{naked} and spoke some vernacular. He said that Petrarch and Christine de Pizan wrote some poems about humanism. Then they all decided to study liberal studies with Dante who wrote Divine Comedy while Jan van Eyck and Albrecht Durer painted some more frescos.

The End